

SERVING YOUR ENVIRONMENTAL NEEDS

Natasha John Martin, Associate

Natasha provides a wide range of utility law and environmental services to our clients. She has represented municipalities in various environmental matters such as Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) compliance; TCEQ enforcement; water supply agreements; TCEQ receiverships; water utility and sewer easements; construction bids; and Endangered Species Act applicability.

Prior to joining the firm, Natasha gained environmental experience at the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP), the Austin firm Lloyd Gosselink Rochelle & Townsend, P.C., and researched for the Obama Administration's National Commission on the BP Oil Spill. Prior to law school, Natasha worked as an Engineering Specialist for the TCEQ. While at TCEQ, Natasha presented at the annual TCEQ Environmental Trade Fair and moderated at several environmental permitting conferences. Her background with TCEQ, and experience in permitting, administrative procedure and enforcement—provide our clients with practical and comprehensive solutions to water, sewer, and environmental matters.

Environmental Experience

- ◆ Nuisance Identification and Regulation
- ◆ TCEQ Enforcement Matters
- ◆ TCEQ Rulemaking Process
- ◆ TCEQ Compliance
- ◆ Environmental and Fire Safety Legislation
- ◆ SOAH Motions & Briefs
- ◆ Water Contract Drafting/Negotiation

Associations:

- ◆ American Bar Association Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources
- ◆ American Bar Association Section of Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice
- ◆ Texas Municipal League Associate Member
- ◆ International Municipal Lawyers Association
- ◆ Travis County Women Lawyer's Association
- ◆ Texas Young Lawyers Association

BOJORQUEZ
LAW FIRM, PC
TexasMunicipalLawyers.com